Hello Parents,

Happy New Year! I hope you all had a wonderful Christmas break. Here are just a few updates from our classroom:

Book Orders: New book orders are going home today. Books orders are due Friday, January 20th. If you wish, you may order online at scholastic.com/bookclubs. Our online class code is HZQWM.

Technology: This week, our class has enjoyed having the opportunity to test out an interactive white board in our classroom. The students have had a blast seeing how this works. We're looking forward to many more technology updates around school in the coming weeks, including new laptop computers.

3rd-4th Science: In 3rd-4th grade science, we have been busy learning all about animals. This week, we did a lab to determine how insects' colors can help them avoid being attacked by predators. We are also learning about how animals use their senses and adaptations to help them survive and thrive in their various environments.

Have a wonderful weekend!

In Christ,
Miss Bernau
